

Universidad de Costa Rica
Recinto de Golfito/Escuela de Lenguas Modernas
LM-1366 Introduction to Poetry
B.A. Luis Salazar Castro

Student: Patrick Washington

Total Pts: 20 / Pts Gotten: _____

Grade:

Instructions:

1. Answer the following questions within this same document and be sure to follow what each question requests. Your answers for this quiz must fit the space provided for each question. Use Times New Roman Size 12, no bigger, and NOT ARIAL. Your Document must be 2 pages, no longer, no shorter.
2. Change the name of this document so that it says your first name followed by quiz 1, for example: "Luis quiz 1"
3. Save your answered document as a PDF file and make sure that the name of the file matches what is requested in point 2 of these instructions.
4. Post your answers in the wiki page for our Introduction to Poetry course or send them to your instructor's email (subfer1@gmail.com) by 6pm today (Wednesday September 3rd)

Definitions. Define the following terms briefly and provide an example for each of them. (10 pts)

1. Synecdoche (2 pts).

This is a figure of speech in which a part of an element is used to represent the whole.

Example: Italy won the game versus Japon yesterday.

2. Synesthesia (2 pts)

According to by Richard Nordquist

Grammar & Composition Expert

In semantics and cognitive linguistics, ametaphorical process by which one sense modality is described or characterized in terms of another. Example a bright sound

3. Image (2 pts)

The images in a poem bring an experience to life by appealing to yours senses by making you see, smell, hear, touch and taste.

When you in a poem something like a bird was crying while the rose was dying. You can make a picture of that moment. .

4. Symbol (2 pts)

A symbol carries a literal meaning and yet at the same time has a larger significant.

Example: a man was walking in a dark wood in winter time. A wood in this time and dark symbolize death to a man walking there.

5. Anaphora (2 pts)

The deliberate repetition of a word or phrase at the beginning of several successive verses, clauses, or paragraphs.

Tears, idle tears, I know not what they mean,
Tears from the depth of some divine despair
(Tears, Idle Tears by Lord Alfred Tennyson)

Analysis. Read the following poem and analyze how images and symbols help to create an extended metaphor. Your answer must be half a page to one page long. Mention at least three images the poem evokes from you, then link them to a symbol that exemplifies the metaphor the poem depicts. (10 pts total, 2 pts each element)

Hope is the thing with feathers	That kept so many warm.
That perches in the soul,
And sings the tune--without the words,	"I've heard it in the chilliest land,
And never stops at all,	And on the strangest sea;
	Yet, never, in extremity,
And sweetest in the gale is heard;	It asked a crumb of me."
And sore must be the storm
That could abash the little bird	--Emily Dickinson

Hope is a feeling and this poem the author personify it as a thing as a general aspect, then as a bird to help us to have an image of it, so the image of hope with feather could symbolize that the hope can fly and have no limits, and hope will be here with us forever warming us. It symbolize that even though we have problems we should hope that everything is going get better. In addition in the second stanza Emily mention the storm which is another image of this poem this storm can symbolize troubles, destruction of a society or family, therefore the meaning of hope is stronger because people think that after a storm everything is quite and calm, in other words we can overcome any problem with hope. In the third stanza she uses other settings to have more clearly that hope never abandon a person and certainly not ask for pay back; Emily shows us very difficult settings in which some people usually do not fight again that, but the symbol of hope. As a result, I think the symbol of this is the metaphor that Emily does between hope and the bird in which the bird can overcome a storm with hope.